DO: The Bible tells us it is important to continue meeting with fellow believers for encouragement in our Christian walk, that's why small group Bible studies are so important. In a way, fellowshiping with others is part of laying a strong foundation in our faith. If you aren't part of a small group Bible study, why not join one? Right now, think of the different small group Bible studies you know of and commit to trying one out. If you don't know of any, why not begin planning to have one of your own? It doesn't need to be anything fancy, all you need is a Bible and an open heart, and of course permission from your parents to host one in their home.
